'Play Your Part' report launched in face of welfare crisis

A new report by The Kennel Club, launched on 5 September 2023, is urging collaboration on the issues facing flat-faced, or brachycephalic, dogs such as French Bulldogs, Pugs and Bulldogs.

The report, 'Play Your Part: Breeding, buying and bringing up brachycephalic dogs better', highlights the welfare crisis faced by some of these dogs due to their huge increase in popularity, and details the collaborative measures that need to be taken by the puppy buying public, breeders, vets, Government and The Kennel Club to protect and improve the health of current and future generations.

Brachycephalic breeds – often referred to as flat-faced dogs due to their short head – have increased in popularity substantially over the last two decades, resulting in irresponsible and high-volume breeding, and importing from abroad, with no regard for health or welfare. Whilst demand has now levelled off and is declining, this has compounded a number of health problems, spanning issues with breathing, skin and eyes, and created one of the most pressing welfare issues for dogs in the UK.

Some of the most popular brachycephalic breeds – French Bulldogs, Bulldogs and Pugs – now account for one in five dogs in the UK, and The Kennel Club report recommends action focussing on:

- Health screening, including increasing uptake of the only current tool to analyse and improve Brachycephalic Obstructive Airway Syndrome – the University of Cambridge/Kennel Club Respiratory Function Grading scheme
- Education and behaviour change of breeders, puppy buyers and dog owners, and the role of online marketplaces which advertise pets
- Introducing mandatory contracts for breeders and overhauls to Codes of Practices on caring for dogs

“The recommendations outlined in this report aim to improve the welfare of those dogs already owned by many and those yet to be bred”

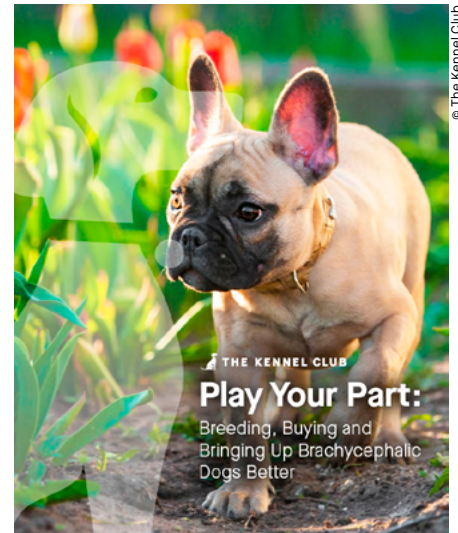

The Kennel Club hopes the report will galvanise all those to ‘play their part’ and work together to improve the health and welfare of the current huge population of these dogs, and future generations. The asks are non-breed-specific so that in the future, new breeds and types of ‘fashionable’ dog will also be better safeguarded.

Bill Lambert, spokesperson for The Kennel Club, commented: “There will always be a demand for brachycephalic type dogs – they are much loved pets by millions in the UK – but it is imperative that we continue to work together to improve how they are bred and bought, and how they are cared for throughout their lives.

“The recommendations outlined in this report, which is very much focussed on collaborative action, aim to improve the welfare of those dogs already owned by many and those yet to be bred.

“As well as making this a priority ourselves, we are calling on the Government, breeders, dog owners, vets, rehoming centres, insurance companies and online sellers to play a part, and to help us in our mission to ensure dogs are bred and owned responsibly, and live healthy, happy lives.”

As part of its commitment to encouraging responsible dog breeding and ownership, The Kennel Club, alongside the University of Cambridge, developed the Respiratory Function Grading scheme (RFG) in 2019 which assesses Bulldogs, French Bulldogs and Pugs for Brachycephalic Obstructive Airway Syndrome (BOAS). Whilst continuing to fund further research into brachycephalic dog health, it has also licensed its RFG scheme to collect international data on BOAS and improve health globally. In 2016, The Kennel Club instigated the Brachycephalic Working Group, which is made up of vets, BOAS academics and researchers, welfare organisations and breed clubs, and aims to research, understand and take evidence-based action to reduce and ultimately eliminate the health problems that these breeds can face, and to educate uninformed puppy buyers and breeders who place looks over health.

We look back at the life of Valerie Foss, a regular contributor who will be greatly missed, and Gay Robertson reports on the 2023 FCI World Lure Coursing Championship in Sweden and a particularly moving winner's story. The event attracted over 700 sighthounds from 27 countries. We also continue our series of members sharing their thoughts on being a part of our organisation devoted to dogs, and encourage readers to visit the special exhibition celebrating The Kennel Club's 150 years that is open to the public until 19 January 2024. In health matters, we update readers on Dogs Trust's Generation Pup project, launched six years ago, that aims to discover whether early life experiences, genetics and environmental factors influence the health, welfare and behaviour of dogs. A unique study that needs readers support and the data supplied can make a substantial difference to dogs in the future.

On 10 October World Mental Health Day raises awareness of mental health issues and the way canine companionship positively impacts how we feel, following recent research from The Kennel Club. We highlight The Kennel Club's annual campaign, 'Be Puppywise', that aims to educate the public about how to buy a puppy responsibly, and how readers can get involved by sharing any Be Puppywise videos, graphics or social posts on their social media channels. In other news we look back at the events East Anglian Staffordshire Bull Terrier Club organised for their Golden Jubilee in July, highlights from the annual YKC Summer Camp and The Kennel Club International Agility Festival where titles were retained and dogs from 12 countries took part.

Our breed of the month is the gentle and affectionate Whippet that is highly adaptable in domestic and sporting surroundings. We look at the breed's origins from race track to Best in Show, and how it was represented in the early dog press, headliners from Crufts and two Whippet treasures from The Kennel Club Art Gallery. The Whippet Breed Health Co-ordinator discusses the results of the most recent breed health survey and asks that breeders speak freely and share information on all health concerns so that we can all work as ambassadors for Whippet health. JR Whippet Rescue explains the effect the pandemic had on rescue and how surprisingly, 2021 and 2022 did not see a noticeable increase in the numbers of dogs offered up for rehoming, but there was a surge in young Whippets for sale on the internet. And finally, they all thought it couldn't be done, but Whippets are actually good at obedience and we trace back the development of The Whippet Club Obedience team, and how that led on to a Whippet team representing Obreedience at Crufts in 2015, plus ten judges choose their three favourite Whippets that they have judged in the show ring in the Judges' Choice.

Delay in electric shock collar ban

Data released by The Kennel Club shows more than three-quarters of the British public want to see a ban on electric shock collars.

Seventy-seven per cent of Brits said they believe the devices, which punish a dog for unwanted behaviour by delivering a shock to their neck via a remote control, should be banned, and more widely, 56 per cent of dog owners don't think the Government is doing enough to protect animal welfare in the UK.

Whilst a ban on electric shock collars has been promised, no date has been set for the final stage of the law to be passed through Parliament, putting it at risk of being dropped completely. The Kennel Club, the UK's largest organisation dedicated to dog health and welfare, is urging the Government not to delay.

Extensive evidence, including research funded by Defra - the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, shows that shock collars not only cause unnecessary harm and suffering for dogs, but they also do not create a greater deterrent for disobedience and do not result in better learning or behavioural outcomes.

The National Police Chiefs' Council have also highlighted that the vast majority of livestock worrying incidents involve dogs that have escaped from their homes, with Lord Benyon, Defra Minister, claiming 'these are cases that hand-controlled e-collars could not have prevented'. Meanwhile the National Farmers Union recognise that for the minority of cases which involve dogs being walked, keeping a dog on a lead in the vicinity of livestock will be the most effective route to preventing livestock worrying, and the police have also been clear that they would not recommend the use of e-collars to prevent instances of livestock worrying.

The Kennel Club, which has campaigned for a ban on these unnecessary devices for over 10 years, is calling for the public to write to Defra showing their support for the ban, and urging decision-makers not to delay. Dog lovers can find a template letter on our website.

This comes after the Kept Animals Bill, a long-delayed law which promised to crackdown on several significant animal welfare issues, including puppy smuggling and pet theft, was abandoned by the Government in May this year. Ministers had hailed this bill as part of making the UK 'a world leader on animal welfare' and that it would create 'the world's strongest' protections for animals.

"We urge dog lovers across the UK to support this ban and put pressure on the Government to follow through with their promises for animal welfare," commented Mark Beazley, Chief Executive at The Kennel Club.

"After the Kept Animals Bill, which should have brought in laws to tackle the cruel puppy smuggling trade and crackdown on heartbreaking pet theft, was delayed time and time again, and then abandoned entirely earlier this year, we are really concerned that important animal welfare issues are disappearing from the political agenda, along with promises for long overdue and vital protections for the nation's much-loved pets.

"Research has shown there is absolutely no need for cruel shock collars, which cause physical and psychological harm, given the vast array of positive training methods available.

"We urge the Government to keep its promise and ban these devices as a priority. Their reputation to deliver on commitments is waning after other animal welfare legislative proposals have been dropped and since no date has been set to bring in this ban - which is already in place in Wales. Shock collars were also banned in France earlier this year, and in Scotland an independent Animal Welfare Commission has recommended a complete ban on their use. Meanwhile, in England, we are still waiting for a date to get a ban passed once and for all.

"This long-awaited piece of legislation, and action on animal welfare, must not be delayed."

More information about The Kennel Club's campaign to ban shock collars, and instructions for those who wish to write to Defra are available over on our website: thekennelclub.org.uk/about-us/campaigns/electric-shock-collars/

'Alarming' research

Statistics released by one of the UK's largest dog welfare organisations shows that up to nine in ten owners wouldn't be able to identify some crucial signs of stress in a dog – despite the fact that 72% believe they can accurately read their dog's body language and know if they're feeling fearful or happy.

A staggering 88% do not know that yawning could be an early warning sign of anxiety or fear, and there was a similarly high lack of awareness about other important stress signs, including licking lips (82%) and staring, wide eyes (65%).

Furthermore, of those owners who are also parents, the majority have not made their children aware of some of the signals which can show a dog is stressed or fearful, resulting in a 'dangerous knowledge gap'. Less than one in five have identified and discussed a dog yawning, licking their lips or holding their tail firmly upright as potential early warning signals of fear or stress, with their children.

The Kennel Club, which explored awareness amongst owners – including those who are also parents – is urging more people to learn about dog body language and what certain signals can mean to ensure safe interactions with the nation's pets. Recognising when a dog is stressed, scared or unsure can help to prevent situations which can escalate, and keep both humans and dogs safe.

Its research also found:

10% of dog owners couldn't identify any signs of stress or fear in a dog – these include yawning, licking lips, stiffening their body, holding their tail firmly upright and showing staring, wide eyes

Less than half could identify the more well-known signs including a dog putting their tail between their legs (45%) or stiffening their body (47%)

28% believe that their dog can behave unpredictably

Bill Lambert, spokesperson for The Kennel Club commented: "It's alarming that so many owners are simply unaware of how a dog can show signs of stress or fear, while, on the contrary, how many falsely believe they understand their dog's body language, which can be gravely dangerous in escalating situations. Given this, it's unsurprising that one in four say that their dog can behave unpredictably. Not being able to recognise when your dog is frightened or stressed can have serious consequences and we are extremely concerned about this worrying knowledge gap.

"By failing to understand the signals, we are not only putting ourselves in a potentially harmful situation, but also our dogs who are relying on our understanding of how they express themselves. Much more awareness of our beloved pets' behaviour is needed, for owners, children and the wider public alike, to ensure everybody is kept safe."

The research, which questioned over 2,000 dog owners in the UK, also showed that 44% of owners have never talked to their family or friends about staying safe around dogs, and more than a third (35%) don't believe the general public understand how a dog shows fear.

Carolyn Menteith, a Kennel Club accredited dog trainer and Chair of the UK Dog Behaviour and Training Charter, added: "Unless you know what you are looking for, some of the signs that dogs show when they are feeling stressed, worried or anxious can be quite subtle. If possible, their first resort will usually be to try and leave the situation they are finding difficult – but often people, especially children, may not give them the opportunity to do so. They may then go on to show their discomfort by yawning or licking their lips, turning away from whatever is causing them concern, showing the whites of their eyes, holding their ears back, or staying quite tense and still.

"Dogs have lots of body language signals that they will show before they resort to giving a verbal warning – a growl – which usually happens after the other clues have been ignored. It's a short step from there to a snap or a bite and sadly this is often the first sign that an owner will recognise, so for safety, looking for those early signals is vitally important."

Following this research, The Kennel Club has shared advice to help the public to recognise important canine body language signals and get to know how a dog is feeling:

Signs of a relaxed dog can include:

- Relaxed body posture, that is free from tension
- Soft eyes without a fixed gaze
- A tail that moves loosely when wagging
- Ears in a neutral position

Signs of a worried, frightened or stressed dog can include:

- Looking tense and having a stiff body
- Tucking their tail beneath their legs, or hold it firmly upright
- Looking overly alert, with wide, whitened eyes, yawning or licking their lips

‘Alarming’ research

The more subtle signals usually come first, but some dogs might use a growl as a quick way of getting out of a potentially stressful situation

Of course, it's important to remember that every dog is different, and this will affect the way that they communicate, so the context around certain behaviours must be considered, especially around young children who may interpret these signals differently and should never be left unsupervised with a dog.

For those that are concerned about their dog's behaviour or body language, The Kennel Club advises speaking to both a vet and a qualified and experienced trainer, such as a Kennel Club Accredited Instructor or through The Kennel Club Good Citizen Dog Training scheme.

Enhanced Labrador DNA package introduced

The Kennel Club has announced the expansion of its DNA Testing Services, with the launch of an extended Labrador Retriever breed-specific DNA package.

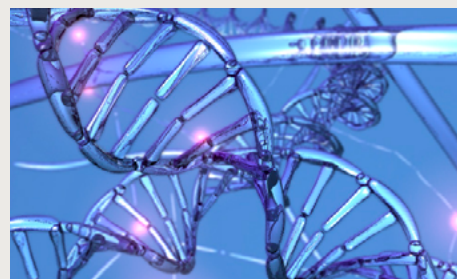

This comprehensive package now includes tests for Exercise-Induced Collapse (EIC) and Hereditary Nasal Parakeratosis (HNPK), alongside the previously available tests. In addition, the dilute (D-locus, d1 variant) has been added to both Labrador Retriever packages, further enhancing the insights these packages provide to breeders and owners to help them understand their dog's genetics.

Priced from £60, The Kennel Club DNA Testing Service offers a convenient and simple health testing solution, combining all the breed-specific DNA tests into one comprehensive package – with results that are easy to interpret and accompanied by breeding and care advice returned within 1-4 weeks.

Available for 78 breeds and aimed at anyone considering breeding, and any owner who wants to better understand their dog's genetics, The Kennel Club DNA Testing Service collects a dog's DNA sample via a simple cheek swab. From the swab, the service checks the DNA for markers associated with a number of different inherited breed-relevant disorders and provides advice to help reduce the risk of producing puppies affected by these conditions, so they can ultimately be eradicated through responsible breeding.

Test results will automatically be registered on a dog's record and available on The Kennel Club website, allowing breeders to find health-tested mates, and puppy buyers to check if the dog they are thinking of buying has come from health-tested parents.

The service is uniquely developed by The Kennel Club, one of the UK's largest dog health organisations, in partnership with Weatherby's Scientific, to advance understanding of dog genetics and disease, with those who use the service contributing to canine genetic research – both through data collection and with all funds reinvested into ongoing research and health initiatives.

Charlotte McNamara, Head of Health at The Kennel Club commented: “The Kennel Club is delighted to launch this extended DNA testing package for the Labrador, which is one of the UK's most popular breeds. This enables more caring breeders and responsible owners to have a genuine and positive impact on the health of future generations of dogs, in an easy and accessible way.

“We've also listened to feedback on the services, which were launched last year, and have reduced turnaround times, with results, alongside relevant breeding and care advice, now being returned within 1-4 weeks.”

The Kennel Club's DNA Testing Services, and more information about DNA testing, can be accessed at thekennelclub.org.uk/dnatesting

To explain the importance of DNA testing, the impact it can have on dog health and how it can help to eradicate some of the most concerning genetic disorders facing certain breeds, The Kennel Club's geneticist, Dr Joanna IIska, hosted a free webinar which can be viewed via The Kennel Club's YouTube channel: youtube.com/playlist?list=PLofebTUX8kOZ9rpYAKmo2K-Fn4qVjR3xj

Brachycephalic health webinar proved popular

The Kennel Club's health team hosted a free webinar for owners, breeders and veterinary professionals who wanted to find out more about brachycephalic obstructive airway syndrome (BOAS), a progressive breathing disorder that can impair a dog's ability to exercise, play, eat and sleep.

The webinar, was part of a series organised by The Kennel Club's health team, which are proving to be extremely popular - with a webinar in August covering intervertebral disc disease (IVDD) receiving a record number of attendees and excellent feedback.

The Kennel Club's health-focused webinar series has so far this year explored other canine conditions such as epilepsy, colour dilution alopecia and osteosarcoma, as well as the science of DNA testing for health, with experts, researchers, owners and breeders. The webinars aim to raise awareness of various canine health concerns, explore research and future studies, improve diagnosis and outlook, and support dogs affected with the condition, and their owners.

The latest webinar on improving brachycephalic health took place via Microsoft Teams on September 20 and explored what research has told us to date about the condition, symptoms, possible treatment options, and methods of reducing risk - including details of The Kennel Club and University of Cambridge Respiratory Function Grading (RFG) scheme.

The webinar included a presentation from specialist Dr Jane Ladlow, a leading expert in brachycephalic health and chief assessor of the RFG scheme. This presentation was followed by a question and answer session, which gave attendees a chance to put forward their queries and experiences for discussion.

BOAS has been identified in brachycephalic breeds - breeds with flat, wide-shaped heads. Abnormalities in the airway of some brachycephalic dogs can partially obstruct the passage of air through the nose and throat, making it difficult for them to breathe normally. More information about BOAS is available on The Kennel Club website:

thekennelclub.org.uk/health-and-dog-care/health/health-and-care/az-of-health-and-care-issues/brachycephalic-dogs/

The webinar series has explored other canine conditions such as epilepsy, colour dilution alopecia and osteosarcoma...

The Kennel Club and University of Cambridge developed its RFG scheme in 2019 to assess Bulldogs, French Bulldogs and Pugs for BOAS. It aims to advise owners if their dog is affected and gives guidance to breeders so they can make informed decisions to lower the risk of producing affected puppies and improve the health of future generations. The scheme, which is based on research at the University of Cambridge funded by The Kennel Club and The Kennel Club Charitable Trust, will be discussed in more detail during the webinar, including the evidence behind the scheme, how it works and how owners can access the scheme. Information is also available online at thekennelclub.org.uk/RFGS

Latest updates to The Kennel Club Assured Breeders scheme

The Kennel Club has announced the most recent updates to the breed-specific health testing and screening schedule for the Assured Breeders scheme, aimed to further improve dog health and responsible breeding.

The range of breed-specific health testing and screening requirements and recommendations under the scheme is regularly reviewed following consultations with breed clubs and councils and with the agreement and advice from The Kennel Club Dog Health Group, in a collaborative effort to ensure that health and welfare issues are kept at the forefront of what the scheme sets out to achieve: the encouragement of responsible breeding.

The list of breed-specific scheme requirements and recommendations is generally updated twice a year to ensure that they remain relevant and of maximum health benefit to all dogs bred by The Kennel Club Assured Breeders. Further tests can be expected to be announced as they are developed.

The most recent updates come into effect immediately. However, existing Assured Breeders have a period of grace of six months to comply with any new requirements and recommendations, to allow them to take account of any existing breeding plans.

The scheme guidelines emphasise the importance of conducting not only the required health tests but the recommended ones also. Results provide data which allow researchers to help develop a picture of how each breed is affected by particular diseases, and how best to improve the health of affected breeds and develop cheaper and faster testing methods.

Breed clubs and breed councils wishing to make changes to the breed-specific requirements and recommendations for their breed should contact their breed health co-ordinator (details available at thekennelclub.org.uk/BHC) who can then liaise with Health (The Kennel Club) and review available data to support the change.

Breed specific updates are as follows:

ABS BREED SPECIFIC DEVELOPMENTS

Basset Griffon Vendeen (Petit)

- Eye testing

It has been agreed to downgrade eye testing for this breed to a recommendation, as the data from BVA/KC/ISDS Eye Scheme tested dogs suggest that the known inherited ocular disease in this breed, primary open angle glaucoma (POAG), has not been identified through routine eye examination for some time.

Furthermore, the breed has a relevant DNA test for the mutation associated with POAG, which is listed as a requirement for breeders under the scheme.

Similarly, the breed has a small breeding population and in order to allow breeders to source suitable mates, and to prevent genetic bottlenecks from occurring, it has been agreed that this test should be moved to a recommendation. Breeders are still encouraged to have their dogs tested within 12 months of breeding, to prevent new or emerging conditions from emerging within the breed.

...existing Assured Breeders have a period of grace of six months to comply with any new requirements and recommendations

Briard - Eye testing

It has been agreed to downgrade eye testing for this breed to a recommendation, as the data from BVA/KC/ISDS Eye Scheme tested dogs suggest that the known inherited ocular disease in this breed, retinal pigment endothelial dystrophy (RPED), is not circulating within the tested population at notable levels.

Similarly, the breed has a small breeding population and in order to allow breeders to source suitable mates, and to prevent genetic bottlenecks from occurring, it has been agreed that this test should be moved to a recommendation. Breeders are still encouraged to have their dogs tested within 12 months of breeding.

Finnish Lapphund - DNA test for prcd-PRA & GSD11

Two DNA tests for the Finnish Lapphund have been altered on the scheme, prcd-PRA will be upgraded to a requirement for the breed, as data suggest that whilst the breed has been successfully selecting against the mutation responsible for this over time, the mutation is still circulating within the population at moderate frequencies. Glycogen storage disease (GSDII) has also been introduced to the scheme, due to the severity of the condition and possibility of producing affected puppies. To date, no carriers or affected dogs have been tested for in the population, and therefore due to the lack of data to support this mutation is circulating at concerning levels this has been added as a recommendation.

German Shepherd Dog - Elbow Grading

Following a proposal from the breed council, the recommendation for elbow grading prior to breeding has been upgraded to a requirement. Whilst the breed has been grading for some time and made discernible improvement in the genetic health of elbows in the breeding population (calculated through estimated breeding values, or EBVs), there is a plateau in improvement in more recent years, and therefore breeders should continue to make efforts to select against this condition.

Keeshond - DNA Test (PHPT)

The Kennel Club has recently announced (May 2023) that following consultation with the Keeshond Breed Health Coordinator on behalf of the breed clubs, the regulation that all imported Keeshonds, or overseas dogs being imported into the UK breeding programme, must be DNA tested for primary hyperparathyroidism (PHPT) before registration of progeny, has been placed on-hold. The reasoning behind this is that there is no peer-reviewed scientific literature providing the details of the mutation tested for, or details of the association between the mutation and the phenotype, and so the validity of the DNA test with clinical disease is not fully understood. As such, this test has been removed from the Assured Breeders Scheme for the breed.

Leonberger - DNA tests

Leonberger polyneuropathy is a known condition in the breed and several mutations can be tested for using DNA tests. The existing and recognised tests for the breed, LPN1, LPN2 and LEMP have been upgraded to requirements for the breed, and the most recently added, LPPN3, added as a new recommendation for the breed.

Miniature Pinscher – Patella testing

Following a proposal from the breed it has been agreed that patella testing be added as a recommendation for the breed, as it is noted in the literature and breed health surveys that patella luxation exists within the breed. Unfortunately, no formal scheme is available to test for this condition, but breeders can reach out to the breed clubs for more information on how and where to test for this.

Norwegian Buhund - DNA test for CA HCA

One DNA test has been introduced to the scheme, hereditary cerebellar ataxia (HCA), due to the severity of the condition and possibility of producing affected puppies. To date, no carriers have been born since 2015 within the tested population, and therefore this has been added as a recommendation.

Lhasa Apso - Eye testing

It has been agreed to downgrade eye testing for this breed to a recommendation, as the data from BVA/KC/ISDS Eye Scheme tested dogs suggest that the known inherited ocular disease in this breed, progressive retinal atrophy (PRA), is not circulating within the tested population at notable levels. Further, the breed have a relevant DNA test for the mutation associated with PRA, which is listed as a requirement for breeders under the scheme.

Similarly, the breed has a small breeding population and in order to allow breeders to source suitable mates, and to prevent genetic bottle necks from occurring, it has been agreed that this test should be moved to a recommendation. Breeders are still encouraged to have their dogs tested within 12 months of breeding.

Papillon - DNA Test - NAD

The DNA test for neuroaxonal degeneration (NAD), has been added to the scheme as a recommendation for the Papillon. This condition has a severe welfare impact in affected puppies, but to date the mutation responsible has not been found to be circulating at high levels within the breed.

Poodle (Standard) - DNA test PRA (rcd4) & prcd-PRA

Two recommended tests are being added for two types of progressive retinal atrophy (rcd4 and prcd-PRA). The mutation frequencies for both of these mutations are currently low within the tested population, and are therefore not currently high priority conditions within the breed. However, by recommending breeders test for these mutations, the rise in mutation frequency can be avoided.

Portuguese Water Dog - DNA Test for prcd-PRA & GM1

Two DNA tests for the breed have been altered on the scheme, prcd-PRA will be added as a requirement for the breed, as data suggest that whilst the breed have been successfully selecting against the mutation responsible for this overtime, the mutation is still circulating within the population at moderate frequencies. Gangliosidosis (GM1) DNA testing has also been introduced to the scheme, due to the severity of the condition and possibility of producing affected puppies. To date, no carriers or affected dogs have been tested for in the population, however breeders are recommended to test prior to breeding to prevent the creep of the mutation into the breed.

Labrador (Retriever) - DNA tests

A number of DNA tests are being added as recommendations for the Labrador Retriever. These include tests for progressive retinal atrophy (prcd-PRA), centronuclear myopathy (CNM), exercise induced collapse (EIC), hereditary nasal parakeratosis (HNPK), skeletal dysplasia (SD2), macular corneal dystrophy (MCD), and Stargardt disease (STGD). The mutation frequencies for these are all estimated to be at low levels within the tested population, but breeders are still recommended to complete these prior to breeding.

Spaniel (Welsh Springer) - Eye testing

It has been agreed to downgrade eye testing for this breed to a recommendation, as the data from BVA/KC/ISDS Eye Scheme tested dogs suggest that the known inherited ocular disease in this breed, hereditary cataract (HC), is not circulating within the tested population at notable levels.

Similarly, the breed has a small breeding population and in order to allow breeders to source suitable mates, and to prevent genetic bottle necks from occurring, it has been agreed that this test should be moved to a recommendation. Breeders are still encouraged to have their dogs tested within 12 months of breeding, or have them routinely screened at the time of gonioscopy.

Tibetan Spaniel - DNA test PRA3

A DNA test for a form of progressive retinal atrophy (PRA3) has been added as a recommendation for the breed. To date, no affected dogs have been tested for in the population, however breeders are recommended to test prior to breeding to prevent the creep of the mutation into the breed.

Bill Lambert, Health, Welfare & Breeder Services Executive at The Kennel Club, said: "The last few years in particular have seen a strong demand for puppies, reinforcing the importance of signposting puppy buyers to breeders who do all they can to produce healthy puppies.

"The Assured Breeders scheme offers a way to source these breeders, and regular review of the scheme ensures we can continue to maintain maximum progress for dog health improvements and encourage good breeding practices, in order to protect the future of the UK's much-loved pedigree dogs."

Westminster Dog of the Year winners

The most coveted title in Government, Westminster Dog of the Year, was awarded on Thursday to TJ, a Cockapoo, owned by Mims Davies, Conservative MP for Mid Sussex, following a hard-fought contest that saw 19 MPs and their canine companions campaigning tirelessly in the lead-up to the event. Meanwhile, the competitors were also canvassing for votes from the public via media and social media, resulting in Rosie Duffield MP and Paco, a Cavalier King Charles Spaniel, emerging as the people's choice, with the Sir David Amess Pawblic Vote award.

The annual competition, organised by The Kennel Club and Dogs Trust, took place in Victoria Tower Gardens, in the shadow of the Houses of Parliament, and provided an opportunity for MPs to engage with experts to discuss all aspects of dog welfare and highlight the important role dogs play in society. This year the event focused on the theme of responsible dog ownership and how, through training, socialisation and responsible owner behaviour, we can help all dogs live happy and healthy lives.

The winning pair were chosen by the judging panel, comprised of Mark Beazley, Chief Executive of The Kennel Club, Dr Paula Boyden, Dogs Trust Veterinary Director, and 2021 Westminster Dog of the Year runner up, Edward Timpson MP. Second place was awarded to Cadi, a Working Cocker Spaniel, and Anna McMorrin MP, with Bertie, a Labrador, and James Daly MP in third place.

Amendments to Judges Education Programme criteria

The Kennel Club Board has approved amendments to the Judges Education Programme (Breed Shows) Level 1 and Level 2 criteria.

These amendments will come into effect for shows held on or after 1 January 2024 and apply to judges signing contracts from the date of the announcement (21 August 2023). Existing CC judges are exempt from this requirement.

Judges Education Programme (JEP) Level 1 criteria is as follows, with amends in italics:

- Minimum of five years proven interest in pedigree dogs
- Attend a Conformation and Movement seminar hosted by a Kennel Club Accredited Trainer
- Complete a minimum of two full-day stewarding appointments
- Attend a Requirements of a Dog Show Judge seminar and pass associated exam (either in person or online via Kennel Club Academy)
- Pass the Points of a Dog assessment conducted by a Kennel Club Accredited Trainer

Previously, it was a requirement that passing the Points of a Dog assessment and Requirements of a Dog Show Judge exam was part of JEP Level 2 criteria.

Consequently, JEP Level 2 criteria is now amended as follows:

- Attend a Breed Appreciation Day (BAD) and pass a multiple-choice examination for the respective breed
- View ring stewarding seminar and take online quiz via Kennel Club Academy
- Complete critique writing seminar and take online quiz via Kennel Club Academy

Whilst completing the critique writing and stewarding seminars remain a JEP Level 2 requirement, the Board has agreed that they can be undertaken at any time, and that the judge does not need to wait until they meet Level

1 criteria, and are recommended to view prior to stewarding or judging.

Judges sitting multiple-choice exams held at Breed Appreciation Days from 1 January 2024 will be required to meet the amended Level 1 criteria.

Helen Kerfoot, Chief Operations Officer at The Kennel Club, commented: "This change to JEP Level 1 criteria will further enhance education of upcoming judges and equip them with the necessary means to judge as they undertake their first appointments.

"We have listened to feedback and it is hoped that these changes create a more logical order of education for judges and will also ensure that exhibitors have confidence that judges have attained a preliminary level of training at any level of show."

Looking back at the progress made so far

Those of you who have read “The boy, the horse, the fox and the mole” will be familiar with the sentiment “we have a long way to go but look how far we have come!” As a busy, show-filled summer draws to a close and before we enter a new phase of our transformation, now is a great time to stop, reflect and see what we have achieved so far this year.

In February’s issue of the Journal, we shared that following the launch of our new purpose and the aims that sit underneath it, we had created special groups, each focused on a different area. These groups identified areas where we are doing well, areas where we could be doing better and changes which could be made, based on understanding what people from across all our dog communities want.

Those seven areas are listed below, and we look at what has been achieved so far, and what’s coming next.

1. Reforming our governance.

Since the beginning of the year the Board has been working to understand how The Kennel Club currently works, its complexities, the way decisions are made, and even how the Board itself works. We’ve liaised with a diverse group of representatives including the dog press, our Finance Committee and staff. We have worked hard to be objective to see what we’re doing well and where we can do things better. For example, how we can make our structures simpler, easier to understand, and quicker to respond.

The Board agreed a set of principles to guide the new way we govern ourselves, make decisions and include people as we do it. Since then, work has been done to look at our organisation and critically assess how we currently work and identify new ways of working that are more efficient and effective. We have worked with committees to enable a wide input into agreeing what works and what needs to change. In August we shared these principles with the different Kennel Club teams, discussing future work and how to improve efficiency.

We’ve liaised with a diverse group of representatives including the dog press, our Finance Committee and staff

Significant progress has been made and we will soon be engaging with our stakeholders before sharing more widely.

2. Improving our CRM System.

It is important that technology works closely together with process, and this year we have focused on looking at many of our internal processes and how we can make them more efficient for our teams and, importantly, for our customers. We have looked at where we can reduce unnecessary steps in our processes, or even redesign better ones. We have also invested time and support to broaden our team’s knowledge and skills to provide a better, faster, more joined-up service. As a result, we have been able to streamline some of our existing business processes to improve customer experience and reduce turnaround times. This has been recognised through many five-star reviews from customers on our improved Trust Pilot ratings page. We are delighted to share that Petlog, our microchipping database, now has a trust pilot rating up to 4.5 and our Kennel Club rating has improved to 4.3 out of 5 in the last 12 months too.

As work progresses on the projects for our future, we are assessing where our technology may need improving. Since the beginning of the year, we have been working with our developers on upgrades to our websites including Crufts, Judges Critique, The Kennel Club and Petlog. Whilst the look of the pages won't change much in the short term, these new upgrades will make it more stable and will allow future changes to be made more easily, improving our customers experience.

3. Evolve our registration model

Our registrations products and services are central and core to the work of The Kennel Club. We are considering how we can evolve our registration model to deliver improved products and services to breeders and new dog owners alike. Clearly, there are many inter-dependencies and this will take time to get right. In the meantime, we have worked hard to improve the service we already provide.

One of our priorities was looking at our litter and change of ownerships applications. Our processes were looked at by the team to see how we could improve efficiency. As a result, this has helped us reduce our registration and import times to pre-pandemic processing times for straightforward requests.

As we look to provide a wider registration services there are some elements we are hoping to achieve action on soon. These include improvements to Find a Puppy, and how we can provide greater value to registration, change of ownership and pedigree certificates for our customers. The planning for these shorter-term projects are underway and we hope to be able to share more later in the year.

We are considering how we can evolve our registration model to deliver improved products and services

4. Better support dog training

The Kennel Club supports and regulates in some way over 2,700 different clubs and societies, including those which host dog training classes. These clubs and societies range in size from one-on-one training to much larger groups.

This year to date we have added 40 new clubs meaning that there are now over 1,600 Kennel Club registered societies (a third of these provide some form of training classes) and over 850 listed status clubs (with over 85% of those providing training). We want to be able to offer greater support to these clubs, societies and individual instructors so they can continue their work in offering an excellent dog training experience for all who attend their sessions and classes.

Whilst training is critical to a safe and happy relationship between dog and owner, it is also a great opportunity to encourage new owners to try different dog activities whether that be breed showing, competitive obedience or agility etc. Looking at how we can better support the clubs and the instructors themselves is part of the focus for the second part of this year and we look forward to updating you in 2024.

5. Improving our membership experience

Several themes emerged from the Members Survey we took last year.

One of those themes was an increased request for a regional presence. We heard and responded and this year we have seen the new improved members lounge at Crufts, but we have also trialled members lounges at Championship shows across the land. We visited Birmingham National, Scottish Kennel Club, Bath, Windsor, Welsh Kennel Club, Paignton and Darlington Championship Dog Shows with LKA still to come.

We have learnt a great deal from those who visited our lounges, but also understand from feedback that it has helped make members and exhibitors alike feel more connected to The Kennel Club. As we welcomed non-members in the afternoon, we hope to have broken down some misconceptions that we are unwelcoming. We have also increased the number of member events at Clarges Street and are looking to trial some regionally based events next year.

The summer brought us plenty of sunshine and smiles as we celebrated our 150th Anniversary at Buckingham Palace, revelling in our new Royal Prefix. Many a cup of tea was raised in honour of her Late Majesty the Queen, and we look forward to news of our new royal patron in the months to come.

6. Opportunities to strengthen our financial position

We shared our 2022 audited accounts with members in May, just prior to the AGM. Sadly, it showed a situation where we realised a £1million loss last year. Since then, we have improved our financial situation through a number of short and medium-term activities.

Firstly, our members agreed to raise the price of registrations, which immediately helped. They also voted to give us greater flexibility on the management of Clarges Street operations floors, and to investigate other options for Emblehope. We are progressing the former with the expectation that colleagues will start to transition to a single floor over the next couple of months, freeing up space for rental to an appropriate third party and generating valuable income.

In addition, a renewed, improved Agria partnership, greater stability for Petlog and a better-than-forecast profitability from Crufts 2023, have all contributed to stronger than anticipated performance. Whilst The Kennel Club financial future is challenging, it is good to see these positive contributions. However, hopefully this is just the beginning as The Kennel Club adopts a new budgeting processes, with a greater focus on benefits, impact and profitability as well as greater communication and understanding across the organisation.

7. Better support our grass roots, participants, organisers and volunteers.

This year we have focused on our awards process and have made some excellent progress and are not too far away from being up to date. We have also introduced a two-year trial for championship shows to allow them not to have benching to give show organisers greater flexibility over cost control.

Finally, to better support our grassroots networks whether they be organisers, participants, clubs or volunteers, our understanding to their wants and needs are key. Earlier this year we undertook a large dog activities survey to try and find out what these are and to seek to understand what would make a difference. The survey has not only confirmed many examples of what we thought was the case, but also provided some interesting themes, around what makes a dog activity interesting, rewarding and accessible to participants of all types. Over the next few months, we'll be providing opportunities for committees and council members, as well as Kennel Club members, to hear the results and provide an opportunity to ask questions.

In summary

We have come a long way this year, given that we are busy keeping The Kennel Club wheels in motion too; delivering the activities we do as part of our day-to-day work, working together to champion the wellbeing of dogs. Whether that is running our health and welfare seminars, working to change policy on shock collars, promoting the correct way to buy a dog through bepuppywise as well as registering puppies and helping to repatriate lost pets with their owners and so much more.

We still have a long way to go, but we are happy with what we have achieved so far as we continue to look at how we can better improve our Club for our members, customers and dog lovers alike.

We will continue to keep you up to date with activities and developments in the Journal, members Round Up email, the member's zone and the Gazette.

Events

Important message regarding awards gained at all licensed events

We would like to apologise that due to the operational issues currently being experienced by The Kennel Club, competitors at forthcoming licensed events will experience a delay on the issue of awards by our office. However, we would like to remind competitors that it is permitted to enter events where eligibility is dependent upon awards and/or titles which are pending confirmation, e.g. champion stakes. Any disputes regarding eligibility will be dealt with subsequently.

Any queries please email KCNotifications@thekennelclub.org.uk

We appreciate the patience of competitors and exhibitors.

THE KENNEL CLUB

The Emblehope & Burngrange Estate Northumberland

A Centre of Excellence for Working Dogs

This beautiful moorland estate stretches to some 7,550 acres and is absolutely ideal for walked up trialling and training for Retrievers, Spaniels and HPRs. The estate offers both Pheasant and Partridge shooting and the varied terrain offers opportunities for all breeds of Gundog to demonstrate their natural working abilities. Woodland cover provides excellent hunting for Spaniels whilst the stretching moorland is ideal for challenging retrieves and for the pointing breeds to show off their hunting abilities to the full.

As a Centre of Excellence for Working Dogs, the Estate also welcomes the full range of working dog activities including:

- Field Trials including Pointer and Setter Spring Stakes
- Gundog Working Tests
- Gundog Training Days
- Live Game Training Days
- Pointing Tests
- Working Trials
- Bloodhound Trials
- Activity Training Days
- Shooting and Gundog Activities

Book your training activities with the Emblehope Estate:

MAINTENANCE OF TITLE FEE 2024

Secretaries of Registered and Affiliated Societies are reminded that if renewal of Maintenance of Title is required for the year, their Maintenance of Title fee for 2024 is due during the month of January 2024.

We are pleased to announce that you will soon have the ability to set up a Direct Debit to pay for your annual Maintenance of Title via your online account/portal. We are no longer able to accept paper Direct Debits forms. We will be in contact via email over the next couple of months to advise when you will be able to log into your Kennel Club account to set up a Direct Debit.

If you previously had a Direct Debit set up with us for your Maintenance of Title and the account details have since changed, please notify us as soon as possible so we can remove the details from our system. This will then enable you to set up a new Direct Debit online, when you receive the go ahead email from The Kennel Club.

In the meantime, if you do not already have a Kennel Club account/portal set up, please set one up as this will not only allow you to set up a Direct Debit, but this will also allow you to carry out many other secretarial duties.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU DON'T HAVE A KENNEL CLUB ACCOUNT?

Guidance on how to set up a Kennel Club account can be found by visiting:

www.thekennelclub.org.uk/about-us/help-centre/

If you are setting up a Kennel Club account for the first time, please contact us by email at sass@thekennelclub.org.uk with your Society's name and the email address you have used to create the online account, so we can connect you to the Society or Societies. We can also add additional officers should they wish to be connected.

If your society would rather not pay the annual Maintenance of Title fee by Direct Debit, please can you contact the Society & Show Services department at sass@thekennelclub.org.uk where we will be able to push payment into the card via your online account to make payment by credit/debit card. If you choose to pay this way, please note it is vital that you send us an email to confirm once payment has been made.

Guidance on how to use the online club portal can be found by visiting the link below:

DISCIPLINARY COMMITTEE HEARING

27 April 2023

Mr G Lawler

Kennel Club Rule A12

The Committee considered the conviction of Mr Gareth Lawler of Pontypool, Monmouthshire for offences contrary to the Animal Welfare (Breeding of Dogs) (Wales) Regulations 2014 from the Carmarthenshire Magistrates' Court on 3 December 2021 (with sentencing concluded in December 2022).

The Committee imposed the following penalties:

1. To warn him as to his future conduct [A11 j (1)]
2. To censure him [A11 j (2)]
3. To disqualify him from judging at any event licensed by the Club [A11 j (8)]

The disqualification is to be for Five (5) years from 27 April 2023.

Mr Lawler was present at the hearing and was represented by solicitors.

The Committee were told that it was a matter of significant disappointment for Mr Lawler to be before the Committee in such circumstances. Mr Lawler accepted that the offence is something that the Kennel Club is bound to look at under its rules and the issues have an impact at first face. Mr Lawler made a number of submissions to provide the Committee with the context for the issues raised in this matter and to set out the circumstances.

The Committee wished to include salient points made by Mr Lawler in the summary of this decision.

1. Mr Lawler pleaded to the offence on the first occasion.
2. The offence was dealt with by way of a primary band sentence which is the lowest level penalty available to the Court.
3. The sentence was limited to a financial penalty with effectively a restitution of monies paid for the dogs bred.
4. The value of the dogs bred within the specified period was approximately £18,000. The balance of the monies to be paid were based on the legal presumption under the Proceeds of Crime Act which meant that the individual had to confirm the source all monies paid into their account, or make payment for unaccounted sums.
5. Mr Lawler was asked to account for six year payments and found that in this technical exercise that there were certain sums which he could not account for.

This is a technical and difficult exercise for any individual and going back a period of six years Mr Lawler accepted that this task was beyond him.

6. Not one person complained regarding the standard of his dogs. No issues regarding dishonesty were raised and no allegation was made by the regulator to indicate a higher level of criminality or organised dishonest behaviour.
7. As to the offence the matter is now spent. All penalties have been paid and the Court order has been complied with in full.
8. The Court reflected Mr Lawler's engagement with the regulator, his age and clean character in dealing with these matters in a limited manner.

Personal mitigation

Mr Lawler was a person of good reputation and clean character. Mr Lawler has committed himself to the work of the Kennel Club and has not been subject to any complaint or criticism both in his conduct as an owner of dogs and as a judge.

The impact of the single offence both in terms of legal costs, depletion of limited resources and reputation have not only been detrimental but devastating.

There were no animal welfare issues evidenced or found against any of his actions.

No dishonesty has been established in terms of any financial transactions.

The Court reflected the limited culpability in the level of penalty imposed.

Mr Lawler had failed to understand the changing regulatory regime, accepted his fault and engaged and co-operated in the process and did all he could to deal with this regulatory omission.

Mr Lawler has provided assurances to the Kennel Club that he will not repeat these omissions and will continue to demonstrate high standards to date in his career and his contribution to the Kennel Club.

Committee observations and comment

The Committee has noted the level at which the Court reflected the offence as at the lowest end of the available sentencing range. The Committee is bound to give reflection to that position and does so with this decision.

Mr Lawler expressed disappointment that he found himself before the Disciplinary Committee in this process. The Committee is equally disappointed that Mr Lawler has found himself in this position as a result of the commission of the offence.

The Committee understands the nature and circumstances of the offence and that is not as has been reported in the press and media.

However, Mr Lawler is a Kennel Club approved Championship Show Judge and has judged at Crufts. As such, Mr Lawler will be suitably au fait with rafts of regulations which need to be abided by. It is not acceptable not to have a full awareness of and to be complaint with any relevant statutory regulatory requirements if involved in breeding of dogs or any activity which is governed by such regulations. Mr Lawler accepts that he was negligent in this respect. The Committee's view is that this simply was not good enough.

The Committee were further disappointed that there has been no sign of contrition or apology given to the Kennel Club within this process for these circumstances.

This offence was discreditable and prejudicial to the interests of the canine world and the Committee's view is that it is incongruent and incompatible with the trust and confidence of a Kennel Club Championship judge and undermining of the reputation in the Kennel Club for Mr Lawler to be permitted and enabled to continue judging at this time.

The Kennel Club Accredited Instructors Scheme

The Kennel Club Accredited Instructors scheme offers its members the opportunity to gain a nationally-recognised vocational accreditation based on a robust standard set by The Kennel Club. It is the first and only scheme for dog training instructors and behaviourists that has achieved programme accreditation from City & Guilds, a globally-recognised benchmark of quality.

This section of The Kennel Club Journal is dedicated to Kennel Club Accredited Instructor members. It provides information on the resources available to members, announcements on newly awarded Kennel Club Accredited Instructors, and KCAI Scheme news and updates.

For more information on the KCAI Scheme, please visit: www.kcai.org.uk

NEWLY AWARDED KENNEL CLUB ACCREDITED INSTRUCTOR

We would like to congratulate the following member on achieving accreditation to become a Kennel Club Accredited Instructor:

Jo Hind-Morton KCAI (Ag)
